

CAROLINE ASTOR SUITE

One of the legendary guiding spirits of the St. Regis vision, Caroline Astor always insisted on the pursuit of excellence beyond expectation. Life is generous in this 100 square-meter one-bedroom suite with high ceilings worthy of her name. There is a slightly sensible touch in this suite through the elegant deployment of Arabic styling, rich fabrics and wonderfully finished dark wood. The private study with a handsome writing desk and dark wood bookshelves is screened from the thoughtfully generous living area by a Mashrabiya wood carving. Large windows offer spectacular views of The Pearl or West Bay and the Arabian Gulf. The carved dark-wood detailing above the signature St. Regis King bed also gives the bedroom a sense of purpose.

Next to the generously proportioned bathroom accented by the rich marble patterns and mirrors above the double basin guests will find a large walk-in wardrobe. A free standing deep-soaking bathtub with a large window and separate rain shower paired with soft St. Regis bathrobes and exclusive toiletries by Remède spa enhance a relaxing bathing experience.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR SUITE

It was John Jacob Astor IV, after whom this suite is named, who had the vision of excellence beyond expectation which has shaped St. Regis for over 100 years. The suite imbues guests with a sense of calm and tranquility only found in the most palatial of residences. The marble entrance of the 110-square-meter one-bedroom suite leads to a generous living room with spectacular views over The Pearl or Doha's West bay. The bedroom with opulent fabrics and bespoke furniture with Arabic design details features the signature St. Regis bed. The separate living room is discreetly extravagant in design and offers spectacular vistas over The Pearl and Arabian Gulf. The Arabian dark wood arched double doorway frames a beautifully detailed bookcase in the private study area. The vanity area with wardrobes leads to the generous in-size marbled bathroom with mosaic detailing. With a large deep-soaking bathtub, vanity area with double basin and separate rain shower, the bathroom becomes a sensory retreat. The John Jacob Astor Suite can interconnect with The Empire Suite, creating a three bedroom suite with two living rooms
